

RENATO CORINO

The Corino brothers have divided their father's estate into two separate properties as of January 2006.

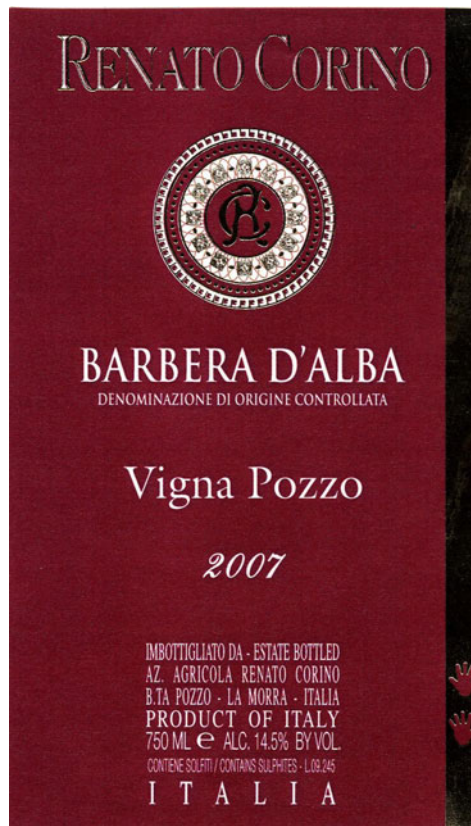

Renato's estate is in the Arborina area, approximately 1 km from the original winery, and a new cellar and homestead were recently built. Renato now exclusively produces Barbera Vigna Pozzo, Barolo Vigneto Rocche and a Nebbiolo d'Alba, while Barolo Arborina, the regular Barolo, Barolo Vecchie Vigne, Dolcetto and Barbera are made by both the estates.

Although the properties are now two, the wines maintain their wonderful character and outstanding quality, as the two brothers have always worked as a team and their vineyards are in top La Morra crus: Giachini, Pozzo, Rocche di Annunziata and Arborina.

The single vineyard Barbera Vigna Pozzo joins the half dozen world class wines produced by this varietal: a wine of stunning concentration, colour and length, it displays a phenomenal complexity of flavours and aromas.

Barolo Vigneto Rocche is a wine whose magical elegance and finesse are unrivalled in the whole appellation and brand the cru as the "Musigny" of Barolo.

Arborina will no doubt remain the classic it has always been. An archetypal La Morra expression in its generous flesh, it distinguishes itself from all other surrounding crus by a touch of austerity, that tannic grip in the finish which is the trademark of this cru. ◇

Barbera Vigna Pozzo

Zone: La Morra
 Cru: Vigna Pozzo
 Varietal: Barbera
 Vineyard Ext.: 1 hectare
 Average Prod.: 5,000 bottles

Barolo Vigneto Rocche

Zone: La Morra
 Cru: Vigna Roche
 Varietal: Nebbiolo
 Vineyard Ext.: 0.60 hectares
 Average Prod.: 3,500 bottles